Introduction

www.labor.state.id.us/lmi/wage-survey/owsmainmenu.htm

The Idaho Department of Labor, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, conducted the 2000/2001 Occupational Employment Statistics (OES) employment and wage survey from October 2000 through August 2001.

This wage publication consists of the three sections described below:

Introduction (Pages 5-10). The first section, comprised of this introduction, describes the methods and contents of the survey to aid the reader in understanding and using the wage information provided in this publication.

Wage Tables (Pages 11-127). The second section includes wage tables for four geographic areas. The State of Idaho table provides data based on all 44 Idaho counties. The North Idaho table provides data on Boundary, Bonner, Kootenai, Benewah, Shoshone, Latah, Clearwater, Nez Perce, Lewis, and Idaho counties. The Boise Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) table provides data based on Ada and Canyon counties in southwestern Idaho. The Southwest Idaho table provides wage data on Adams, Valley, Washington, Payette, Gem, Boise, Elmore, and Owyhee counties. The South Central Idaho table provides data on Camas, Blaine, Gooding, Lincoln, Jerome, Minidoka, Twin Falls, and Cassia counties. The Pocatello MSA table provides data based on Bannock County in southeastern Idaho. The Eastern Idaho table provides data on Lemhi, Custer, Butte, Clark, Fremont, Jefferson, Madison, Teton, Bonneville, Bingham, Power, Caribou, Bear Lake, Franklin, and Oneida counties.

In each of these tables, the estimated employment, the average (mean) wage, entry wage, midpoint (median) wage, and middle range wage levels are provided in occupational code order.

The last two tables list the 20 occupations paying the highest wages, and the 20 occupations paying the lowest wages.

List of Occupations (Pages 129-146). The third section provides an alphabetical listing of occupations to aid in locating specific job titles.

Job Definitions

Job definitions for the occupations included in this survey are published separately in the 2001 version of the Glossary of Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) Job Titles and Definitions. Copies of the Glossary may be obtained from the Idaho Department of Labor by calling Public Affairs at (208) 332-3571 or at 1-800-772-2553. The Glossary is also available on the Internet at www.labor.state.id.us/lmi/wage-survey/owsglos\_list.htm (HTML format) or www.labor.state.id.us/lmi/wage-survey/owsglossary.pdf (PDF format).

Other Definitions

Average Wage. In this data, the average (mean) data reflects a weighted mean. To derive the weighted mean, the weight (calculated by BLS) of each employer is multiplied times the number of their employees times the midpoint of the wage range for each employee. This number is then divided by the total weight of the employers times the total employees.

Employment. The estimate of total employment for a specific occupation. This is not the number of employees from companies responding to the wage survey.

Entry Wage. This term refers to the average wage paid to those in the bottom third of workers in an occupation. This is an imputed wage measure, rather than a surveyed measure.

Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA). A metropolitan statistical area (MSA) is a county or collection of adjacent counties with a minimum population of 100,000, and with a city or urbanized area of 50,000. MSAs are officially designated by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget. Currently, there are two MSAs in Idaho: the Boise MSA made up of Ada and Canyon counties, and the Pocatello MSA made up of Bannock County.

Middle Range. This term is used to describe the range of wages paid to the middle 50 percent of the workers in a specific occupation. This means that one-fourth of the employees are earning wages below the low end of the middle range and one-fourth of the employees are earning wages above the high end. This range provides the user with information regarding the variance of pay within an occupation.

Midpoint (Median) Wage. This is the wage of the absolute middle worker in the occupation. One-half of the workers in the occupation earned wages below the midpoint, the other half earned wages above the midpoint.

Occupation. A set of activities or tasks that employees are paid to perform. Employees that perform essentially the same tasks are included in the same occupation, whether or not they are in the same industry. Some occupations are concentrated in a few particular industries, others may be found in a majority of industries.

Survey Code. The numerical code used in the survey to identify the occupation and its relation to other occupations in the survey. The codes used in this year's survey differ from that used in past years, as described in the next part of this introduction.

New Classification System

These OES survey results are the second release of Idaho employment and wage estimates using the new Office of Management and Budget's Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system.

The new SOC system will be used by all federal statistical agencies for reporting occupational data. The SOC system consists of 821 detailed occupations grouped into 449 broad occupations, 96 minor groups, and 23 major groups. The OES program provides occupational employment and wage data at the major group and detailed occupation levels.

Due to the transition to the new SOC system, data contained in this publication are not directly comparable with previous years' OES occupational employment and wage data. Previous data were based on the OES classification system having seven major occupational groups and 770 detailed occupations. Approximately one-half of the detailed occupations were unchanged under the new SOC system, with the other half being new SOC occupations or occupations that are slightly different from similar occupations in the old OES classification system.

Because of the shift to the new SOC system, employment estimates are based only on the data collected in the 1999/2000 and 2000/2001 survey.

More About the Survey

The following industries are represented in the survey: Mining; Construction; Manufacturing; Transportation, Communication, and Public Utilities; Trade, Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate; Services; and Government.

The OES survey covers 22 of the 23 major occupational groups under the SOC system; the OES survey does not cover occupations specific to the military. The following 22 major occupational groups are included in the survey:

- Management
- Business and Financial Operations
- Computer and Mathematical
- Architecture and Engineering
- Life, Physical, and Social Science
- Community and Social Services
- Legal
- Education, Training, and Library
- Arts, Design, Entertainment, Sports, and Media
- Healthcare Practitioner and Technical
- Healthcare Support
- Protective Service
- Food Preparation and Serving Related
- Building and Grounds Cleaning and Maintenance
- Personal Care and Service
- Sales and Related

- Office and Administrative Support
- Farming, Fishing, and Forestry
- Construction and Extraction
- Installation, Maintenance, and Repair
- Production
- Transportation and Material Moving

An industry employment-size stratification method was used to select the sample of firms. With this method, large firms represent themselves in the wage estimates, while smaller firms represent both themselves and a number of other similar-size companies in the same industry.

Geographically, sample firms were selected from all counties in Idaho. In areas where employment is more concentrated, more firms were surveyed. Wage information is presented for the entire state and for six sub-state areas.

The survey form used to collect employment and wage data is a structured and uniform collection document provided by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

For some large companies data was collected via personal visits, but the bulk of the survey effort was conducted by mail. Mail and telephone follow-up contacts were made to non-responding companies. Technical procedures are available on the Bureau of Labor Statistics Internet site at <http://stats.bls.gov/oeshome.htm>.

The collection document included a definitions supplement of job titles and job duties. Employers were encouraged to match not just the job title, but also the duties of their workers with the job duties listed in the definitions supplement.

Employers were asked to report the number of employees by occupational classification and by pay range. Only wage and salary-type compensation data are included in the survey results. Therefore, fringe benefit costs, overtime, bonuses, incentive pay, and other non-wage earnings are not included.

Timeliness

Accurate and reliable wage surveys take time to conduct. The sample must be designed and selected, data must be collected, coding and editing must be completed, analysis must be conducted, and results must be published. This survey took about 15 months to complete, with wage information being collected and processed from October 2000 through August 2001.

Historically and in general, wages do not change quickly. However, occupations and industries that are growing faster than average are also likely to experience rapidly changing wages. For some high demand occupations, especially in the information technology and skilled health care fields, wages have grown at a faster rate than other occupations.

Understanding & Using Wage Information

Wage information is essential to employers, employees, and everyone else who participates in the labor market. Employers use the data to determine whether they are paying their workers a competitive wage, to build wage and salary administration structures, to recruit workers, to find locations where new business operations may be successful, and to maintain internal equity among current workers in an occupation. Job seekers, students, and other individuals use wage data to make decisions about jobs or careers, to negotiate job offers or promotions, to make relocation decisions, and to decide which educational programs to pursue. Researchers use wage data to analyze trends, and managers use it to design and implement policies.

Matching your job with the survey

There is no single "right" wage rate for an occupation. The economy and the supply and demand of the job market determine the wage an employer is willing and able to pay an employee. The individual employee decides whether or not to accept the wage offered for the job.

Companies differ considerably in the products or services produced, working conditions, size, location, and complexity and work required for different jobs. There are also significant differences between the skills, education, experience, and abilities of employees within each occupational classification. Because of these differences, there is typically a wide range of wages actually paid for a single occupation. The "right" wage for a job is the one that matches the individual employee's compensation with the work to be performed and the industry; not merely the average surveyed wage.

Therefore, whether you are an employer, an employee, or a job seeker, the best way to match a job with a wage is to match the skills and responsibilities of the job with the skills and responsibilities defined for the survey occupation.

All employers do not use the same set of definitions and titles for jobs, so it is important to use the definition of duties rather than just the titles to match and compare wage rates. Job definitions are included in the Glossary of Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) Job Titles and Definitions. (To obtain a copy, call (208) 332-3571 or 1-800-772-2553. The Glossary is also available on the Internet at www.labor.state.id.us/lmi/wage-survey/owsglos\_list.htm or www.labor.state.id.us/lmi/wage-survey/owsglossary.pdf.)

You may not find the occupation you are looking for listed in the survey tables. The specific occupation may not have been included in the survey because many job titles are employer-specific. The occupation also may not appear if the level of employment was too low to derive a reliable wage estimate, or publication of wage rates may have disclosed private information for an individual firm.

If you cannot find the exact title you need, the next step is to "benchmark" your job with one that is included in the survey. To do this, find a job definition with similar skills, knowledge, and responsibilities to the one you need, and use the wage data for that occupation.

You can also look for information for the specific job you want, or a benchmarked job, within the next larger geographical area.

Using Middle Range Wage Information

The middle range measure is very useful in looking at wage data because it encompasses wages at different levels of experience and covers 50 percent of the people in an occupation.

It is possible to make some assumptions about the middle range wage data to assist you in determining whether a wage for an occupation is competitive in the labor market. For example, less experienced workers may be receiving pay closer to the low end, and more experienced workers may be receiving pay near the high end. The pay for some occupations is very sensitive to area, size of company, type of company, or duties the workers are actually performing. These variables may cause the middle range wages of an occupation to be very broad.

As You Use This Data...

You should keep the following four important points about this wage survey in mind:

- First, differences in the way employers perceive the job definition or job title sometimes lead to differences in the information reported on the survey.
- Second, pay may vary by area within Idaho. Even in the same geographic area, wide ranges of pay rates for the same occupation are not uncommon. These differences stem, in part, from the degree of competition for workers.
- Third, typically the higher the level of skill, education, and/or training an occupation requires, the broader the labor market area of recruitment. For example, the labor market for engineers may not be confined to the boundaries of Idaho, but may be regional, national, or even international, depending on the special skills required. On the other hand, the labor market for low-skill occupations is typically localized because workers may not wish to commute long distances or relocate for low wage jobs.

- Fourth, although the wage information in this publication is based upon actual wages paid, the data measures only the amount paid to the workers of those companies included in the survey at the time it was conducted. This wage data is not absolute; it is the calculation of wages generated by a statistically valid survey.

Thank You!

We appreciate the many Idaho employers who participated in this survey effort, allowing us to provide this important information to our customers.

We also want to thank those people who use this publication. If you need further assistance, or have a suggestion to improve this publication, please contact us.
